

FOOS GAS AND GASOLINE ENGINES

Last longer and give better service than any engine on the market. Why? Because only the best material and workmanship that money can buy are used in their construction. They are the most accessible, simplest and easiest to operate of any engine sold today.

A few of the superior points are: The governor, with which you can change the speed while running. Economy of fuel, due to the construction of the valves and positive action of the governor. The igniter, which makes a spark one-half inch long: will start the engine on the first turn and is guaranteed not to foul. The balance weights on the crank shaft instead of on the fly wheels, which insure steady running and minimum of wear on the bearings. The lubricating system, and lots of others that we will tell you about if you will just give us a chance. We have samples on the floor and can give you a demonstration any time.

We also carry in stock a full line of Belle City and Ross Feed Cutters, the best of their kind. Kemp Manure Spreaders, Vehicles, Wagons, Implements, Seeds, Coal, Salt, etc. You need our goods and we need your money. Give us a call.

Al. Field's Minstrel.

Al G. Field and his Greater Minstrels will play an engagement at the Grand Thursday night. This organization is well known to the public, having been on tour twenty-two years. For years Field has offered the best in minstrelsy. Not only is this organization the oldest upon the road, but it is said to be bigger and better than ever. The show is entirely new this season, and though many old faces will be seen, many new members will be introduced in the personnel. A burlesque of the Gridiron Club, that famous Washington institution where politicians and newspaper men meet annually is the feature of the first part. Prominent people, statesmen, politicians, diplomats prominent in the public eye, are caricatured, their pet hobbies, fads and public questions. Hits on the various bills in Congress, allusions to various episodes attending public affairs have been expressed by dialogue and impersonations. Scenically the act is the most elaborate ever offered in minstrelsy.

The olio takes on all of the forms of old-time minstrelsy. Due emphasis has been given to scenes typical of the old Southern plantation and traits of the darky as he existed before the war. The olio presents "Roll on Silver Moon," a big song and dance act. This feature offers a series of dances artistically arranged. It is executed under the personal direction of Doc Quigley, whose dancing acts have brought him prominently before the public the last few years. The act offers a Southern sunset changing to moonlight and showing a cabin and watermelon patch, and chicken fight in progress. Grotesque and eccentric dances are executed by the ubiquitous negro parson and ensemble. With the change of scene a spectacular moon effect has been developed entitled, "Spooning in the Moon." It presents a darky and his sweetheart making love on the edge of the moon to the accompaniment of song and dance. Gradually the moon fades away and the interior of a church is shown with a marriage ceremony. The church bells and songs give atmosphere to this little pantomime. After as aftermath a cakewalk is executed by a dancing party in white costumes with black background, a shower of flowers which makes this one of the most beautiful scenes ever devised.

"It Happened In Nordland."

"It Happened In Nordland" will be the offering presented by the Lew Fields theatrical Company, a celebrated organization of 20 talented principals and a chorus of 60 at the Paris Grand on Friday night, December 7th.

This delightful operatic extravaganza will be given here with the original New York production in its entirety under the personal stage direction of Julian Mitchell, who produced "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Babes in Toyland." The book is by Glen MacDonough, the popular librettist, while the tuneful scene is the most ambitious work of Victor Herbert, America's foremost composer of light operatic music.

From beginning to end "It Happened in Nordland" is a dream of sensuous beauty, interrupted frequently, to lighten it, by comicities of such as only dreams can provide.

The beautiful girls, the enchanting dances, the delightful music of Victor Herbert, and worthy of him—the gorgeous costumes, the superb lighting effects, and the sprightly comedy, are the main features of this worthy offering.

One of the dances is a distinct and remarkable novelty on the extravaganza stage, where dances generally have no significance whatever, but are merely thrown in for good measure, so to speak, with the song. But this dance, which accompanies the song, "Abisnthe Frappe," is much more than a mere accompaniment. The Prince has had too many absinthes, and he sees a vision, in which a dozen hours entice, allure and elude him. The man who conceived this effect has poetry in his soul, for it is beautifully symbolic of man's pursuit of ever-fleeting happiness.

There are other striking dance ensembles in the first act, but they are all outdone at the beginning of the second act, when there is a very cloud-burst of beauty upon the stage. The number is called "The Carnival" and it was indeed a carnival of loveliness. No parched Mohammedan enthusiast, looking in an ecstasy from the desert at the stars, ever imagined a more gorgeous Paradise.
